This guide is a collection of links to national partner resources, organizations, and initiatives focused on student voter engagement and the 2020 election.

Please note, given the number of organizations dedicated to supporting student voter engagement and election information we are unable to capture them all in this guide. If you have questions or would like to see additional resources added in the future, please contact Sara Gruppo at the John H. Pace, Jr. ’39 Center for Civic Engagement at sgruppo@princeton.edu.

John H. Pace, Jr ’39 Center for Civic Engagement

The Pace Center makes service and civic engagement part of the Princeton student experience. As a resource to the campus community, staff members in the Pace Center are available to provide guidance, consultation and training on best practices for engaging in service and civic engagement.

Vote100

A non-partisan University-wide, student-led voter engagement initiative aspiring for 100% of the undergraduate student body to engage civically. Faculty members are invited to join the Vote100 effort as faculty affiliates.
National Partners

Partners are listed in alphabetical order.

ALL IN Campus Democracy Challenge

The ALL IN Campus Democracy Challenge empowers colleges and universities to achieve excellence in student democratic engagement.

Princeton is a participating campus in the "Challenge" so you can access a Virtual Democratic Engagement Toolkit to learn more about strategies and creative ideas for virtual and in-person learning.

Association of American Colleges & Universities (AAC&U) Voter Participation

The mission of AAC&U is to advance the vitality and public standing of liberal education by making quality and equity the foundations for excellence in undergraduate education in service to democracy.

Each election cycle, AAC&U highlights and shares Voter Participation Resources.
Faculty Network for Student Voting Rights (an initiative of the Scholars Strategy Network)

A diverse group of faculty at all levels representing institutions throughout the United States. This group shares resources curated specifically for faculty members by faculty members to support sharing of election and voter registration information with the students they teach and advise.

The Faculty Guide to Student Voting in Your Classroom

Institute for Democracy & Higher Education (IDHE)

IDHE, part of the Jonathan M. Tisch College of Civic Life at Tufts University, serves as a leading venue for nonpartisan, applied research, resources, and advocacy on college student political learning and engagement in democracy.

A signature initiative of IDHE is the National Study of Learning, Voting, and Engagement (NSLVE, pronounced “n-solve”), a robust study of college and university student voting and service. Princeton participates in this study.

IDHE recently released several reports and guides on the 2020 election. Additionally, IDHE offers resources on academic freedom.
